Canadian Chess Challenge (May 17-18)

The Chess Challenge Finals were held in Toronto on the Victoria Day weekend. Unlike previous years the team scoring was done by match points rather than games points, i.e., 1, 0.5, or 0 per match, despite the fact there were twelve games contested between the individual teams. Ontario is the overwhelming favourite at these events, and it is usually just a matter of how big their winning margin will be. However, this year B.C. actually beat the Ontario squad in round three, which introduced a welcome element of competition into the race for first. In the end Quebec won all their matches to take first with 9.0/9; Ontario and B.C. tied for second with 7 (Ontario came second on tiebreak), while Alberta and Manitoba tied for fourth (Alberta was ahead on tiebreak).

- 1 Quebec 9
- 2 Ontario 9
- 3 British Columbia 7
- 4 Alberta 6
- 5 Manitoba 6
- 6 New Brunswick 3.5
- 7 Newfoundland 3
- 8 Nova Scotia 2
- 9 Saskatchewan 1.5
- 10 Prince Edward Island 0

In the individual board prizes B.C. garnered a total of six trophies; four of the grades involving B.C. players went to playoffs, but in only one case were we successful in taking the top prize:

- Grade 1 Zexi Jesse Li, second place, 8/9
- Grade 2 Jingzhi Xu, third place, 7
- Grade 3 Jonah Lee, third place, 7
- Grade 4 Dezheng Kong, first place and national champion, 8.5

Grade 7 Tanraj Sohal, first place and repeating national champion, 8.5
Grade 12 Naom Davies, first place and national champion, 8

The other team members were Hector Rathburn-Mackay, Alex Sabaratnam, Tse Ning Cheung, Jeff De Guzman, Tian Tian Geng, and Elliot Raymer. Congratulations to all, and thanks to team captain Lucas Davies and all the parents, siblings, coaches, and friends who contributed to the team.

34th PAUL KERES MEMORIAL

This year the Keres Memorial moved to the New Westminster campus of Sprott-Shaw College, the regular home of junior chess in the Lower Mainland. The lack of a large main hall necessitated the use of three different rooms for the tournament; playing conditions were acceptable, if a little cramped. One major improvement was a designated skittles room, which we didn't always have access to at the Hungarian Cultural Centre (the site for the past four years). Sixty-nine players entered the fray, down ten from last year; presumably some found the location a little too out-of-the-way, also the current economic conditions didn't help. Despite the lesser numbers this was one of the stronger Keres events in recent memory, including thirteen masters (three IMs, three FMs and a WFM) and a total of twenty-three players over 2000.

Jack Yoos marked his return to B.C. by taking clear first with 6.0/7. His closest rival in the last few rounds was Bindi Cheng (back from his first year at University of Toronto), but Jack won his game against Roman Jiganchine whereas Bindi was unable to overcome perennial Keres winner Georgi Orlov. Cheng's only loss was to Yoos in the third round; unbeknownst to Bindi, they followed their game from last year's Canadian Open. By the time Bindi realized what was happening and varied, it was too late. Cheng came clear second with 5.5/7, while the third prize was split between Georgi

Orlov and Charles Cadman. Orlov lost to Roman Jiganchine in round two and was unable to make up enough ground to catch Yoos. The U2200 prizes were claimed by the trio of Dragoljub Milicevic, Pavel Trochtchanovitch, and Changhe Li. The U2000 Section was won by Philip Harris when he defeated former leader Richard Reid in the last round - Harris scored 5.0/6. Reid tied for second with Jofrel Landingin and junior Janak Awatramani was the top U1800, all three were a half-point back with 4.5. Another junior, Alice Xiao, was perfect in the U1600 Section. James Taylor came second with 5.0/6, and three players tied for the U1300 prize: Joanne Foote, Lionel Han, and Edward Enns. And last but not least, Stewart Paulson won the Upset prize for his win against Lubomir Pokora, a 460 point ratings difference.

A tournament like the Keres cannot take place without the (superhuman) efforts of a number of individuals on the organizational side; this year Junior Coordinator Ken Jensen kept the ball rolling when no one else would. The rest of his team included Wendy Jensen, Wolfram Herdin, and others I have overlooked or cannot name. Apart from the usual event duties a large amount of free food and drink (cookies, muffins, snacks, fruit, coffee, water) was provided for the players, also discounted pizza by the slice. Stephen Wright was the TD, with assistance from Lyle Craver and Lynn Stringer.
